

Name: _____

Date Started: _____ Date Completed: _____ Score: _____

Learning Activity Sheet
Experiencing East Asian Literature

A. Read each item carefully. Circle the letter of the correct answer.

1. What does Confucius' latin name, K'ung Fu-tzu mean?
  - A. The Good Teacher
  - B. The Great Teacher
  - C. The Greater Teacher
  - D. The Greatest Teacher
2. What expression best captures the message of Confucius in his analects, "A man who speaks with honeyed words and pretends to be kind cannot be benevolent"?
  - A. Time is gold.
  - B. Be careful who you trust.
  - C. Kindness can be deceiving.
  - D. Honest people are kind people.
3. What kind of irony lets the audience know something that a character does not?
  - A. verbal
  - B. dramatic
  - C. nonverbal
  - D. situational
4. "I don't want to eat even if I'm so hungry." What kind of irony is used?
  - A. verbal
  - B. dramatic
  - C. situational
  - D. not an irony
5. Which statement is an example of verbal irony?
  - A. I will ask her if she has wheels.
  - B. I can eat a mile high of ice cream.
  - C. I am like a flower floating in the air.
  - D. I am happy with his disappearance.

B. Explain the two given Confucian teachings briefly by relating your personal views and experiences. This will be rated based on the 3Cs (Content, Conciseness, and Clarity).

“To be slow to speak, but prompt to act, is the desire of the superior man.”

---

---

---

Don't worry about being misunderstood but understanding others.

---

---

---