Heroes

People who have contributed much to the country are heroes. They died as martyrs and left a legacy of patriotism. However, nowadays, we look up to heroes as those who do something extraordinary for you, to your family, or maybe to a stranger you meet. On social media, we find many of them, like those who offer help to those who need it, give donations during calamities, or reward a good deed one does. Would you want to be known as a modern hero?
